Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to you because I seek a fulfilling position as a junior full-stack web developer.

My passion for programming began in high school when I discovered the magic of taking an idea and making it real using nothing but the clever use of commands. I was compelled to find new ways of automating Excel and creating hobby websites to feed my interest.

I'm fortunate that my technology career involved working closely with software developers, providing a crucial insight into their world. When I discovered the increasingly important role developer boot camps play for all manner of technology companies, I jumped in with both feet. Graduating from Epicodus in Portland, and the experiences that came after, have further fueled my enthusiasm to learn, discover, and build elegant solutions.

My relevant skills include:

- Graduation from Epicodus boot camp for Javascript, Ruby/Rails and REACT. Tools used include Github, Heroku, Redux, PostgreSQL, JQuery, Bootstrap, and many other technologies.
- Internship with Goalden Hour, excellent references available. Working in REACT, developed new skills with MobX, Github, Typescript, Ant Design, and Ionic framework. Wrote an onboarding document for orienting new interns. Participated in interviewing new potential interns.
- Currently employed as sole sustaining developer for Save Ohno, excellent references available. Use Ruby Rails skills working with Heroku, AWS, Sparkpost, Sherpadesk, and Mailchimp.
- Software Management experience at Advanced Circuits. Created and managed a software department designed to integrate a newly purchased CAD software. Supervised every aspect of the success that the project experienced.
- Successful outside sales experience to tech start-ups and large corporations in the Silicon Valley.
- Proven skills in communication and presentation experience, innovative thinking, analytical skills, adaptability and organization.

I am certain I can be an asset in a developer position that requires enthusiasm, dedication and hard work.

Thank you for your time and consideration, I'd love to be a member of your team and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Drew Peterson
